Cows Have Fur—and Feelings

Did you know that cows are a lot like us? They play games, make friends, and have likes and dislikes. Mother cows love and protect their babies (calves) and even take turns babysitting for each other! Some have jumped over fences to look for lost calves. Their milk is meant for their babies, who need it to be healthy and strong.

1. What are some ways that cows and humans are alike?

2. How do cows take care of their calves?

3. How do cows feel about their calves? Explain your answer.
